1. Hrifunes Guesthouse
The former community house in Hrifunes has been converted into a cozy family run guesthouse located in an area of stunning natural beauty in the heart of south Iceland. Every evening, the communal dining area is the centre of the action. We offer delicious home-cooked meals with an emphasis on free range, home grown, homemade, seasonal & local food. The three-course set menu, features quality Icelandic ingredients such as fish, lamb and wild game. As we base our meals on local, seasonal ingredients, our set menu varies depending on the day and time of year. The food in Hrifunes is simple, honest and full of flavor.

3. Geirland
We would like to welcome you to Hôtel Geirland, located 2 km away from Kirkjubæjarvikluster.

At our restaurant, you will be able to enjoy the view of Icelandic nature while you enjoy a great Icelandic local meal. Our restaurant is famous for its homemade skyr cake, which the owner, has made and developed through the years. We offer Klaustursleikja, Arctic char, from the town Kirkjubæjarvikluster cooked in our unique way. We are really proud of our Icelandic traditional lamb fillet and the double smoked lamb which we get from a farmer in our nearest environment. Please visit our web page www.geirland.is or call us for further information.

4. Hôtel Laki
We at Hotel Laki are proud to offer our guests food originated from our local farmers. Kráísar, at Breiðárlón-stuður is our local cattle ranch, they breed the most tender beef we have tasted. The Icelandic mountain lamb from our neighbour Sigfús in Borgarfell and the Klaustur Char raised in crystal clear spring water that has been filtered through layers of natural lava rock, are three of the main courses served in our new Restaurant-Cater. On the side we serve the delicious beers from Maríubakk and amongst desserts, we have the wonderful ice-cream from Suður-Foss in Myrdalur. On our breakfast buffet, we serve a variety of topings and sargasses made from the local mountain lamb. We believe that it is very important to tell our guests about the food they are about to enjoy, and being able to certify the purity of their ingredients is priceless.
